DR. JOEL BRANHAM has been appointed State Librarian, and has entered upon the duties of his office.

BY a typographical error the proceedings of the Fourth Ward Democratic Club were credited to the Fifth Ward this morning.

GOVERNOR SMITH has declined to pardon Spann and his paramour, retenced to be hung in Webster county for the murder of Mrs. Spann.

THE names of eight of the Democratic candidates for Congress in Georgia are words of one syllable only. One of them is two syllabled, but then he will harrass the foe just as much.

THE TOURNAMENT.—The knights who propose contesting for the prizes offered by the Agricultural Association will meet at the office of T. W. J. Hill, James' Bank, promptly to night at 7 o'clock, as business of importance will be transacted.

W. W. Thaxton, of Butts county, had his gin house burned. Also Mr. Curry's residence. In the latter $3,000 of gold was partially melted. Spalding has no jail birds.—Griffin Star.

MURDER.—An altercation between two negroes took place on the plantation of Mr. Hiram Camp in this county, on Sunday last, which resulted in the death of one, and the "critical condition" of the other. "Anything to beat Grant."—Coweta Defender.

We take pleasure in announcing that General A. H. Colquitt, Colonel Glenn and Colonel Beck—our congressional nominees—will address the public at Forsyth on Monday, the 21st instant, on the political issues of the day.—Monroe Advertiser.

A meeting of the Democracy of Pike was held during the session of the Superior Court last week, which was addressed by Colonel Boynton, Colonel Beck and Governor Smith. The meeting was enthusiastic, and will be followed by good results.

WHAT A FALL, MY COUNTRYMEN.—The negro who came so near being elected to the Legislature in Polk county was, it is said, waiting on the table at the fair at fifty cents a day and his board. How's that for the vicissitudes of political life.—Rome Commercial.

To can the climax, a colored orator was vociferously called to the stand, and with an exuberance of eloquence akin to inspiration, asserted his fealty to Greeley and Democracy. We are glad to see the colored voters standing up for their Southern white friends and sincerely hope that ultimately they may become a unit in our ranks.—West Point News.

COTTON MOVEMENT FROM GEORGIA.—The Wilmington (N. C.) Journal understands that the cotton now passing through that city, via the Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta Railroad and the Western and Atlantic Railroad, will average twelve car loads per day. The most of this goes from Georgia, and is being carried all the way through over the inland route to the northern markets.

HOW THEY DIET.—When those pisky Atlanta mosquitoes get done with one side of a yearling infant, they roll it over and serve the other side the same way. It requires two well grown infants to furnish rations for three mosquitoes with an ordinary appetite.—Macon Telegraph.

Watson stood on the Macon floor
Watson all but him had fled
The gore, piled up around him,
Marked the mosquito dead.

THE RADICAL CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.—Mr. Philip Clayton, the nominee of the Radical party of this district, was in this city yesterday, and pronounced as false a rumor which has been in circulation for some days, to the effect that he would abandon the contest provided the "Straight-Outs" would run a candidate. He declares his intention to fight the race out on the Radical line "if it takes all summer" to make the trip.

In despite of this explicit denial, the popular belief is still strong in the conviction that an understanding exists between himself and General DuBose, or his friends, that in good time he will withdraw from the canvass and throw the support of his party in favor of the latter gentleman.—Augusta Chronicle.

GRIFFIN, MADISON AND MONTICELLO RAILROAD.—The work on the Madison end of this road is now progressing with as large force as can be profitably employed. As the money season has returned, we have no doubt but what the subscribers to this enterprise will pay up promptly, and thus secure its early completion. Captain J. T. O. Lyon, one of the firm of the contractors, has just returned from the West, and secured a profitable contract on the Texas and Pacific Road, and put a good force at work on it, and expects shortly to add several hands to his corps from this State. In the meantime the firm will push forward the work on our new road, and if nothing breaks will rapidly complete it. Griffin News.

The duty of the Democrats of Floyd county and of North Georgia, is to stand by their colors and give Greeley, the regular nominee of the Democratic party, a decided and ringing majority.

Whether there be a hope of his election or not; whether a single State in the Union besides Georgia give him a majority or not, let us not fail him.

Let us show the American people that when Georgia's word is pledged through her delegates to Convention that she will redeem that word even in the face of inevitable defeat.

But the chances of Greeley's election are yet very good.—Rome Commercial.

COL. E. W. BECK.—The nominee of the Democracy of the old Fourth District, is the gentleman named—he having been unanimously indorsed by the delegates from thirteen of the most populous, intelligent and wealthy counties in Middle Georgia at the Convention held on Tuesday last.

Col. Beck has never been a place seeker. We believe this is the first time he has been before the public as a candidate. Hitherto he has devoted his time and talent to the persuit of his profession, and has succeeded in occupying a high rank among his legal brerthren. Morally and socially his character is unsullied, and those who know him personally universally esteem him as a man of high literary and professional attainments and an earnest and honorable Christian gentleman.—Monroe Advertiser.

FORWARD!

Address of the National Democratic Committee to the People of the United States.

TRIUMPH WITHIN OUR REACH

The following Address to the people of the United States has been issued by the National Democratic Committee:

The October elections are over. They enable us to form a tolerably accurate idea of the true political situation of the country.

In Georgia we have to recount a victory for the Liberal ticket so unexampled as to take her out of the list of the doubtful States, and practically to pronounce in advance the decision of at least 125 votes in the Electoral College. To this number it is only necessary to add sixty votes to elect Greeley and Brown.

In Pennsylvania, the distinguished chairman of the Liberal Committee has eloquently characterized the methods by which the result of the election there was accomplished We commend his statement to the thoughtful attention of the country.

In Ohio, despite most unprecedented gains for the Liberal-Democratic ticket the Grant managers have carried the election by a reduced majority, having brought to the polls their entire reserve vote. Had our Democratic friends in certain localities of that great commonwealth shown the same earnestness and activity, and enabled us like our enemies to record our entire strength, they would now be exulting over a brilliant victory. In Indiana the Democratic and Liberal forces have achieved a most important success over Pennsylvania tactics most unscrupulously employed by the Administration and its allies, showing thus that a free people when aroused know their rights and dare maintain them. Indiana has fairly demonstrated that she can neither be "bought nor bullied." The moral of these results is that victory is still in plain view for our national ticket, and that energy and courage will assure it. That victory must be won. If we mean to preserve free institutions on this continent we must assure it.

The event in Pennsylvania on Tuesday last, when considered in its causes, is the most appaling political catastrophe that has ever taken place in this country. Should the system through which this catastrophe was brought about be condoned by the people and fostered on the other States, it seals the doom of freedom in America. A sad contrast it is surely that the city in which the Republic was born amid the anthems of a free people should now be the first to toll the knell of its liberties. It is for the free, unbought people of all the States to calmly review the fearful crime against suffrage in Pennsylvania, and to decide whether it shall be repeated within their own borders.

For the first time the system of free government and the sanctity of the ballot are really on trial in the United States. From this hour forward the preservation of the franchise in its integrity dwarfs all other issues.

☞ Let our friends in each of the States catch inspiration from the heroic conduct of our fellow-citizens in Georgia and in Indiana; and from now till November let their struggle be manful and unceasing for liberty and an untainted ballot-box, for reform and an honest administration of the Government.

AUGUSTUS SCHELL,
Chairman National Democratic Committee.

REMARKABLE SPEECH OF SENATOR SCHURZ.

Grant's Re-election the Doom of the Republic.

ST. LOUIS, October 15—Senator Schurz made a speech at St. Charles last night, in which he said the Liberals intended to vigorously fight to the end of the campaign; that there was nothing in the events which have just taken place, and the circumstances surrounding them, which would in any way dampen the spirit of the men engaged in the Liberal movement. He said if Grant was re-elected the country would witness the most corrupt administration it had ever seen. He denied that there was freedom of elections in the South, and prophesied a time when they would have to fight fire with fire, force with force, and the country would witness the deplorable results seen in Mexico and South America.

He said four years from now they might be forced to elect Grant for a third time, and they would not be able to help themselves, for in that time he would be able to elect himself. He stated he had always been a Republican, always advocated the principles of that party; always indorsed its course, and that the principles which he advocated as a Republican are his principles and his course still. He had never deserted from them, and now rejoiced in the virtual accomplishment of all he ever contended for. He acknowledged reverses, and that the issues of the campaign are doubtful, but the conclusion he drew was that there being danger, they must prepare for it. If they had difficulties to conquer, they must put forth every effort. They had terrible odds against them, but so long as there is a fight, so long is there hope of victory.

☞ According to Haller, women bear hunger longer than men; according to Plutarch, they can resist the effect of wine better; according to Unger, they grow older, and never get bald; according to Pliny, they are seldom attacked by lions (on the contrary, they will after lions); and according to Gunter, they can talk a week.

DIED.—Berlin, October 15.—Prince Frederick Henry Albert, brother of the Emperor William, died to-day.

Courage and Invincible Determination.

Editors Constitution: Yes! courage is the word, invincible determination is the principle and impulse that should animate every Greeley and Brown man North and South, East and West, courage won back the lost battles of Marengo and Monmouth on the same day. There is nothing in the recent elections of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana to dispirit the Greeley and Brown men. There is everything to encourage and nothing to discourage the supporters of Greeley and Brown. Our friends in those three States made a heroic fight. They fought dishonesty and corruption in every form, and yet the victory of the enemy is a meager one. They are dismayed in the triumph of their victory. They exhausted their whole strength in that one effort, they can never make so bold and vigorous an effort again. Their present success contained the very elements of defeat. Already they waver; one more united and determined struggle and the victory is won, redouble your energies for the contest in November and fight the fight with faith in the justice and success of your cause. Your honest and brave chief is heard from the hills of Maryland to say, struggle on, it must come sooner or later, hear ye him and imitate his brave example; cowards only despond. The brave neither struggle or falter in a just cause. Sublime confidence is the acceptor for success. Truth and justice may be pressed hard, the pressure but gives strength and power to the divinity that stirs the one and the other. Go among your neighbors, ta k to them, and tell them in plain words of the mighty issues at stake, and breathe into them the mighty spirit of courage and invincible determination. Talk one to the other; throw your arms around each other, and move forward in the embrace of hope, baptized in the loftiest purpose that ever animated freemen: the redemption of the government from corruption and reconciled liberty. The heart of the nation throbs for peace and good will, and its mighty pulsations must and will drive into exile the diseased blood of discord and purify the body politic that reconciliation may circulate through every artery and vein of the nation Before that God whom I expect to appear and answer for every fixed thought of the mind and every action in life, I believe Greeley and Brown will be elected in November, for ja dice never abandons the right, and as reconciliation originated in the Divine mind for the restoration of man's happiness in his fallen state, so its divine energies will move and control the people of this country to obey its sublime teachings that our people may be one people; living under the august results of peace, happiness and prosperity.

HALL.

CANTERSVILLE, GA., October 16, 1872.

Editors Constitution: You give the vote of Bartow county for Smith (Governor) 1,594; Walker 856. The correct vote is, Smith 1,594, and Walker 586. Please correct and oblige a subscriber.

Greeley will get 1,200 majority in this county.

JOAQUIN MILLER'S DRIVE.

The Poet of the Sierras Enjoying the Scenery of the Central Park.

Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras, is stopping at the Astor House. On Thursday he and Colonel Tennie C. Claffin, Mrs. Victoria Woodhull, and Colonel James Thomas were driven in a stylish four-in-hand to Central Park. The poet was elegantly attired in a spain suit of black and wore a costly Panama hat, his long, light-colored hair hanging down on his shoulders. He carried a delicate cane, and ever and anon stooped over in a thoughtful mood and rested his chin on his clasped hands. Colonel Claffin, who wore a handsomely trimmed dark alpaca dress, a light necktie, and an English riding hat, sat bolt upright in her seat beside the poet, and chatted pleasantly with him, her large, beautiful eyes beaming full upon him. Mrs. Woodhull, who was dressed in somewhat the same style as her sister, the Colonel, sat beside Colonel Thomas, with whom she kept up a very lively conversation.

As the turnout sped over the splendid drives, the morning visitors to the Park hastened to catch a glimpse of it. Joaquin seemed annoyed, and he blushed to the roots of his hair. He frequently turned to the fair Colonel by his side and said he failed to understand the rabid curiosity of New Yorkers. As they passed the statuary the blue eyes of the poet lighted up with a peculiar lustre, his poetic fever returned, and he spoke in rapturous tones of the poets of old. Mrs. Woodhull was inclined to talk politics, but the warlike Colonel of New York's colored regiment seemed spell bound with the poet's talk.

At last they reached Stetson's, and partook of breakfast. Many flocked to the dining room to see the yellow-haired poet, whose married life has been discussed over the entire globe, and the women brokers of Wall street. After flubbing their repast and spending some time in conversation, the party returned to their coach, and were driven through the Park to the Fifth avenue entrance, and thence down town, the fair Colonel and Mrs. Woodhull going at once to their brokerage office, 48 Broad street, and the poet and Colonel Thomas to their hotel. On their way down town they were the observed of all observers, and the poet drew a sigh of relief when once more in his rooms in the Astor House.

Startling Story of a Diamond Robbery---Seven Steamboats Burned to Cover a Theft of $100,000.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 15—Since the confession of James Kenny, the noted thief now serving a term in the Tennessee Penitentiary of his connection with Billy Forester and others in the Schooler diamond robbery at New Orleans in 1861, Mr. Schooler came here. After consulting Chief of Police Athey, he with that officer proceeded to Nashville and obtaining an interview Kenny prevailed upon him to make a full confession to that robbery. It was planned by Forester, Frank Dague, alias Dago Frank, now in jail in Jersey City, and Dave Cummins, and in order to draw the police from the scene of the robbery, they hired men to set the steamboats at the landing on fire, by which the magnificent steamera Thompson Dean, Magenta, and four others were consumed; and during the fire the robbery was effected, by which a hundred thousand dollars worth of diamonds was obtained. After remaining quiet the spoils were divided and he and Forester came to this city, where a portion were sold and the remainder sent East, one large stone being sold to Angelo Marre, now on trial here for robbing the safe of the chief of police. Returning to Memphis, Schooler and the chief found Angelo's pin put up as bail for his brother John Marre. Schooler at once recognized the stone. Soon after several others were found and identified, never having been removed from their original settings. In conversation with others, Kinney said he was certain that Forester murdered Nathan, but no one knew all about it but Forester's wife, now in Memphis, and she was too sly to give Billy away.

☞ The stage of Mr. Fechter's new theater in New York will be a novelty. It is to stretch forward into the center of the house. Its back will be in the shape of a quarter-dome, with the concavity turned towards the audience. This will be painted blue, so as to have as natural a sky as possible. By an ingenious device, cloud-shadows will be made to pass across it when the scene is laid in the open air. The usual place of the orchestra will be filled with fragrant flowers and a stream of running water. The band will play under the stage. Careful acoustic arrangements insure their being heard, although they will be wholly unseen.

☞ A fashionably dressed young lady passed some gentlemen, the other day, one of them raised his hat, whereupon another, struck by the fine appearance of the lady, made some inquiries concerning her, and was answered thus: "She makes a pretty ornament in her father's house, but otherwise is of no use."

☞ A parsimonious sea captain, answering the complaints of his men that the bread was bad, exclaimed: "What! complain of your bread, that is made of flour? What do you think of the Apostle? They ate 'the staff of bread,' made from old boots and shoes."

The Race Between Goldsmith Maid and Occident.

Financial and Commercial.

WASHINGTON, October 17.—It is rumored that Ristow succeeds Williams as Attorney General after the elections. Williams will preside over the commission to adjudicate the Alabama claims between the people and government, which, it is expected, Congress will establish.

NEW YORK, October 17.—The Mexican Minister, Nelson, has arrived.

Registration is progressing. Ninety-six thousand have been registered against 91,000 in 1871.

MEMPHIS, TENN., October 17.—Willie, the youngest son of Mr. Davis, is dead. He died of diptheria.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., October 16.—A race between Goldsmith Maid and Occident here this evening drew a crowd of 10,000 people. The race was for a purse of $10,000. Mile heats, best 3 in 5. Maid was the favorite from the outset, $100 being freely staked on her against $55 on Occident. Both horses were in excellent trim this morning. The track was in splendid condition. The weather was warm and pleasant, and a lively contest was expected.

In the first heat Occident drew the pale and the horses commenced. At half past 2 o'clock nine false starts were made. The driver of Maid always came up in front, Eoff holding Occident back. Eoff was fined one hundred and fifty dollars for refusing to obey the orders of the Judges. After another false start the horses finally got off on a new score. At three and a half o'clock Occident showed a length ahead to the first quarter. Time 33½. The second opened a gap of daylight at the half-mile. Time 1:07½. But when approaching the three-quarter post, the Maid collard the horse and passed him, coming down on the home stretch, she pulled ahead laying on the whip, and the Maid passed the line three lengths ahead. Time 2:20¼. Occident's time was 2:24½. Occident behaved splendidly and was not fretted by the scourge. Neither of the horses showed signs of fatigue. Occident still has many friends in the betting fraternity.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., October 17.—Goldsmith Maid beat Occident—mile heats for $10,000. First heat, Maid 2:20¾; Occident 2:21 1-4. Second heat, 2:20 1-4. Third 2:23½. Neither horse showed any signs of fatigue, and Occident was leading in the last heat when a bad break threw Maid ahead.

PITTSBURG, PENN., October 17.—The Pig Iron Manufacturing Association, at its meeting made no change in the price of metal.

LEXINGTON, KY., October 17.—Sentinel won the stallion race in two heats, beating Magic Clare, Curtis, and Agrican. Time, 2:24¾ and 2:29¾. Princess won the second race, 2:23¼. Lucy won the third race. Time, 2:41; 2:40½; 2:43.

BOSTON, MASS., October 17.—As James W. Woods, clerk in the Old Colony railroad office, was passing, this afternoon, from the paymaster's room to the treasurer's office on the same floor, and but a few yards distant, he was knocked down and robbed of $4,000. The robbers escaped.

General Butler to-day was renominated for Congress from the Sixth District, and the Democrats and Liberals of the same district nominated Charles B. Thompson, of Gloucester.

PHILADELPHIA, October 17.—The delegates to the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union attended the complimentary concert this evening, given by the Catholic Philopatrian Literary Institute. An address of welcome was delivered by J. Durass Obeyen, which was responded to by Hon. M. W. Hogan, of St. Louis, and Rev. Father Rooney, of Louisville. Over 200 delegates have already arrived and others expected.

LONDON, ENG, October 17.—The Nina, for Bombay, and the Parthia, for New York, collided in St. George's Channel. The Parthia was slightly damaged.

IF EITHER IS ELECTED

EVERY PERSON IN THE STATE

will want to get into some business that they can

MAKE A HANDSOME THING OF.

WE have two articles of our own invention and patent that is needed in every household, and meets with ready sale—both paying large profits—for which we wish to sell territory. We have all the territory of the United States to sell or exchange for good real estate, except the States of Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Alabama and three counties in the State of Georgia.

One of our inventions and patents is a Peach Stoner and Halver. With this machine, one hand can do the work of six or eight hands, and at the same time increasing the value of the fruit 25 to 30 per cent. when dried, as it cuts the peach in strictly halves and thereby prevents the worm from getting in the dried fruit.

Men, in selling the machines, can make very easily if a good salesman from FIVE TO FIFTY DOLLARS per day, clear of all expense.

Having been a cotton planter, and being fond of farming, I would exchange the right to one or both articles for a specified amount of territory for a good plantation, with or without stock and provisions, in South Georgia or Middle Florida.

Morning Edition.

ATLANTA:

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1872.

For the Fair.

Our advertising patrons will bear in mind that THE CONSTITUTION publishes a regular afternoon edition. This will be circulated largely at the Fair Ground every day of the fair. We already have a large number of advertisements prepared with a view to the fair.

☞ In twenty-three counties in Missouri, the reistration of voters increased the vote of 1870 the large number of 20,384.

Personal.

We had a call yesterday from Mr. Cumming, of the Early County News, who is attending our Fair.

☞ The California papers say that a son of Crittenden, whom Mrs. Fair killed, and for whose murder she has just been acquitted, is dogging her footsteps and threatening to kill her.

Injudicious Journalism.

We reproduce from the Louisville Courier-Journal of the 15th an article entitled as above, which will show our contemporary, the Herald, that our views in regard to its article about the Enforcement Act are shared in by those who can possibly have no other motive than desire for the public good.

☞ In Indiana, the vote will foot up nearly 400,000. It ought not to be over 350,000. This shows the extent of the Radical colonization of illegal votes. Hendrick's lawful majority is not estimated under 15,000.

This consolidated colonization cannot take place in November, when each State must take care of itself.

The National Democratic Committee.

On our first page will be found the address of the National Executive Committee. It has the right ring. We like it. It breathes that spirit of resolute persistence that we trust to see the Democracy everywhere fully respond to.

It fittingly terms the Pennsylvania fraud an appalling catastrophe. It involves the very existence of the government. When we see the Administration debauching the ballot-box to continue its rule, it is indeed time for men to reflect and patriots to unite. The agents of the people abuse their trust to perpetuate it. They defile the institutions of freedom, of which they are the custodians, in order to gain further guardianship of what they desecrate.

And yet with such crimes committed against good government by those chosen to administer it, and with such incentive as self-preservation dictates for all good citizens to unite to resume the abased trust from our treacherous and unfaithful agents, we see some of our people under the farcical pretext of preserving principle, seeking to divide the Democratic organization, and pursuing a course that will only result in keeping in power the administration that it claims to condemn.

Away with such folly.

Drinking It.

When people make other people drink bitter things, it is rather clever in the fates to give a taste to those who thus persecute others. The Northern folks are getting a taste of what Radicalism has put on the South. The method of suffrage rascality practiced in Pennsylvania is just what the South has suffered for the last few years.

We are not altogether broken-hearted to see that our Northern brethren are having some other of the experiences that have not entirely made the South a Paradise in the last five years.

For instance, we see by a telegram that came a day or two back, that the veritable Ku-Klux have turned up North. A bold crime was committed in Ku Klux disguises.

We used to tell our northern defamers, when Bullock was engaged in the congenial work of getting Georgia reconstructed every day or so under Grant's benevolent auspices, that lots of the Ku-Kluxism was merely ordinary crime that sought perpetration under that convenient disguise, and that it was no more political than any other crime. They wouldn't believe us. They wanted a pretext anyhow.

We have been surprised that the cute northern scamp didn't plagiarize the thing, and adopt the Ku Klux screen before. They are at it now, however. Our northern brothers are tasting the chalice they put to our lips.

Lucca.

Pauline Lucca, the Prussian prima donna, who has stormed New York musically, so to speak, seems to be evoking some hostile criticism. Some of the papers plaster her with praise, and a few are beginning to say she is no great shakes.

It is also coming to gossip that she has a disposition to fuss. She is a charming little woman, but she will fuss. Well, that's a pretty woman's prerogative. The man that objects to a pretty woman's fussing is a base wretch, who deserves to have his noddle broomsticked by some irate chignon.

Madame Lucca has been court-singer and all that sort of thing. She quarrelled with her rival, a Madame Mallinger. There was complicated fussing. Lucca finally broke an engagement and scooted off to this country, where she is winning plan-fits and green-backs.

Gossip further says that her husband, the Baron Von Rhaden, didn't want her to come, and is talking of suing for a divorce. Also, the same tight-tongued mischief-maker says that old Rhaden is a festive bird, fond of gambling and amateur affection, and impatient of marital harness.

Altogether a pretty kettle of fish is getting into print about the vivacious and really meritorious little prima donna.

☞ The Chicago Post says "we are for closing the saloons, and closing them next Sunday." This is the declaration of an earnest Christian who is scrupulously conscious that there is enough in the Jag at home to last until day break Monday morning.—Courier-Journal.

☞ Stephen, son of Premier Gladstone, has been appointed rector of Hawardan, England, at $15,000 a year, and a discriminating Heathen insists that "with such an income it isn't hard to tread the paths of rectitude."

General A. R. Wright.

This able and eloquent Democrat is the regular nominee of the party in his District for Congress. His services to the party have been long and conspicuous. He won the nomination fairly. General Du Bose, who comes out against him, was a candidate for the nomination up to the very day the Convention met. His withdrawal was a wise concession to the fact that he could not be nominated. In coming out as an independent candidate, we do not think his conduct is fair. He does not claim that General Wright was not unfairly nominated. He gives no reason whatever that justifies his candidacy. It seems merely a matter of personal ambition with him to enjoy an office that is very desirable.

In taking this extraordinary course he violates his fidelity to the party. He imperils the party success by this attempt to divide it and defeat its regular nominee. He places himself in antagonism to the official action of its regular authorities.

We deprecate earnestly his action. And we urge the party in the district to stand true to the nominee. General Wright is to-day as "straight" a Democrat as General Du Bose, as true to Democratic principles, and certainly truer to the party organization. There can be no reason given for a Democrat voting against him. He is able, eloquent, brave, honest and patriotic. If such a man, so fairly nominated, can be defeated by the party, then political organization is a mockery and a farce.

Democrats, stand to your nominees.

Injudicious Journalism.

We Must not Give Tyranny a Pretext to Oppress Us.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal of the 15th.

The disposition on the part of some Southern papers to manufacture ammunition for Radical use is one of the most astounding developments of the times. Journals that in general possess ability and acumen are strangely weak and driveling in this respect. Let the metaphysician explain it as he will, it is certainly true that the most absurd follies have long been committed in the south by journals which are capable of better things, and which appear to be devoted to the cause they are doing so much to overturn and destroy.

It has been known since the Georgia election that an attempt would be made to break the force of the Liberal victory of that State, and, if possible, rob us of its just and legitimate fruit. A pretext was all that was wanted. Any sign of hostility to the laws of Congress was a gracious godsend, sweet and refreshing to the Radical soul. It was known that the State was filled with Federal spies and conspirators, who were eagerly watching for inflammatory material to be used in carrying out the general design. The adroit and unscrupulous Farrow had his emissaries in almost every precinct. He was ready to hurry dispatches to Washington, and to inflame the Northern heart by fiery stories of outrage and violence on the part of Southern Democrats. Advised of all this, it might be supposed that prudent and sensible men would have avoided affording the very material which was wanted by their enemies. Yet the Atlanta Herald, a journal we have been in the habit of regarding as both sensible and discreet, publishes a most ill-considered and suicidal article in which it declares that it hopes the day will come when the Enforcement Act "will be utterly disregarded in Georgia." "We want no enforcements acts in Georgia," it exclaims. "If our people are the men they were in 1860 they will not have any of it here." "Above all," it adds, we do not desire to see this law enforced, because we believe its enforcement ought to be resisted and resistance might result in bloodshed."

This article was at once telegraphed by Farrow to Attorney General Williams, at Washington, and the next morning it appeared in the Washington Chronicle, with the following editorial comment:

"The following dispatch to Hon. Geo. H. Williams, Attorney General of the United States, reached this city on Saturday. It shows that the perpetrators of the election frauds in Georgia are ready to defy the efforts of the Government to bring the bold despots to justice. The rebellious spirit is far from subdued."

In another column will be found some very sensible comments on the subject from THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION. That journal declares that the expressions used by the Herald in no way represent the sentiments of the people. But the damage is done. A hundred papers from the same State might disclaim any sympathy with such utterances, but the one paper will be regarded by the Radical leaders as fairly representing the true type of Southern sentiment, and the hundred papers as misrepresenting it. The one paper will be quoted from by the Radical press throughout the country, and the hundred papers differing with it will be ignored.

Such has been the petty game of tyranny in all countries. It seizes upon isolated expressions of public sentiment as affording conclusive proof of rebellion, and draws from a single inflammatory utterance a warrant for oppressing an entire community. It goads its victims on to acts of violence, and complains because that violence exists. New inflictions are resorted to, and these inflictions, calling forth new, more violent expressions of indignation on the part of the sufferers, are followed by oppressions still more cruel and severe.

The necessity for the practice of prudence and forbearance on the part of Southern papers is therefore paramount. No injudicious utterance should be allowed to escape them. No pretext of any kind should be afforded, knowing the eagerness with which their enemies will seize upon and exaggerate it. It is truly difficult, we know, for the South to practice these virtues under the grievous provocations which are given day after day. But they should be practiced, nevertheless. They should be added to those of courage and heroism, which are so strikingly illustrated in her history. A brave people struggling with adversity present human nature in its best form; and, if our Southern friends will only be wise, prudent, and true to themselves, all may yet be well.

EDMUND YATES.

A New York correspondent writes of the lately arrived celebrity, Edmund Yates:

In the clever and dashing author of "Black Sheep" and "Broken to Harness," the American public will have the opportunity of observing, during the coming lecture season, a favored and representative son of the London Bohemian. Mr. Yates' career has been full of ups and downs, of social pleasures and imaginative labor, of literary adventure, distinguished friendships and financial vicissitudes. In his person he presents a fine specimen of the stalwart animal characteristics of his English race. Muscular and compact of form, with a round healthy face, a genial, jovial dark eye, a positive mouth and rather obstinate English nose, and a truly Bohemian moustache, his appearance is that of a man to whom illness is unknown, who loves society and fun, is fond of the festive board, and who has the rollicking courage of vigorous English manhood. The gay, hearty life of the successful London man of letters, of which Yates has tasted both the bitter and the sweet, has in it a singular fascination. The lounging at the Garrick, the visits to the green-rooms of Drury Lane and the Adelphi, the roystering suppers at the Star and Garter, and the jolly whitebait dinners at the Crown and Anchor, the feasts in chambers, the gay parties at the country seats of literary Lords like Dickens, and the hereditary lords like Bulwer and Dufferin, the saunterings in the park, not to omit the continual race with the printers and the midnight "ink-slinging" in the fifth story sanctums, the life of Bohemia is one of fitful merriment of spasms of work, of alternate pocketsful of guineas and impending bankruptcy. The weaker courtiers of the Muses succumb to the round of social dissipation and painful labor. Mr. Yates has not only survived it, but has come out of it as fresh and rosy as Venus from her bath. All that there is of lusty vigor and manly sport in modern English life interests and allures him. His novels are full of horse and jockeys, of athletic and buxom English women, sporting squires, men of the town and typical characters in sporting and fashionable society. In these novels he has depicted what actually exists, exaggerating little, and not being too delicate in exposing the less as well as the more moral and amiable features of human character. There is a dash, a sparkle in his style, too, which well typifys the careless and hilarious Bohemian career; a racy power of description which has an aroma of the turf, the field and the club, and the incidents and plots are all of those of modern society, and mostly of pleasures and extravagance. Every scene seems to indicate that the novelist has borne a part in it; the characters bear the resemblance of men and women whom their introducer has known and studied.

General Campaign Notes.

WISCONSIN.

Chicago, October 5.—The Liberals confidently expect to carry Wisconsin. That is a bold hope, but they have good reason for it. In the first place they have only 10,000 majority to overcome over last year's vote. Secondly, Wisconsin has the largest proportionate German population of any State in the Union; and thirdly, there is a large liberal element in that State among the prominent men of all nationalities. Mons. Anderson, the wealthiest and most popular Swede in that State, is one of the electors, and he has a large following among his own countrymen.

THE GERMANS SOLID FOR GREELEY.

Milwaukee has a clear majority of German voters, and they are almost solid for Greeley. The exceptions are just numerous enough to prove the rule. About one-third of them have heretofore been Republicans.

FLORIDA.

Of the prospects in Florida, the Floridian writes: The prospects for carrying the State by the Conservatives and Liberals in the November election are encouraging in the highest degree. Bloxham's election for Governor is conceded by many on the opposite side, and we feel assured that nothing is wanting to carry our whole State ticket but organized activity on the part of the friends of reform from now until the 5th of November.

MISSISSIPPI.

With regard to Mississippi, very favorable advices have been received lately. The negro vote there is more divided than in any State south of Mason and Dixon's line, while the white population may be said to be a unit in favor of Greeley.

HUNTER'S LETTER.

Washington, October 14.—Ex-Senator Hunter's letter on the financial issues involved in the canvass is attracting much attention from politicians. He shows the folly of Boutwell's attempt to pay off the public debt in a rapid rate by exorbitant taxation upon the present generation. He also attributes the protective system, to which he attributes the great decline of our shipping, and regards the idea of reviving it by bounties as fallacious. He opposes also any violent or hasty resumption of specie payments, on the ground that this result may be best attained by a liberal commercial policy. The letter completely demolishes Boutwell's financial policy, and shows that the business interests of all classes, including manufacturers as well as merchants, would be promoted by a change of our financial policy.

NORTH CAROLINA.

The Grant party in North Carolina are greatly encouraged by the result in Pennsylvania. In Raleigh there has been an anti-Grant newspaper called the Sentinel, which has caused them great annoyance by its exposures of the stupendous frauds of the carpet-baggers. Previous to the Pennsylvania election they had contented themselves with manifesting their displeasure with the course of the Sentinel by cautious attempts to shoot the editor and his wife. On the reception of the news of Cameron's triumph, however, they took heart and boldly blew up the whole establishment with gunpowder. If Grant should be elected in November the occupation of publishing anti-Grant newspapers in North Carolina would not be an inviting one for persons of a nervous organization.

Special to the Constitution.]

DALTON, GA., October 17, 1872.

Col. E Y. Clarke delivered here to-day a stirring Greeley speech to a large and enthusiastic audience.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

Meeting of the National Board of Trade.

Caleb Cushing on the Geneva Conference.

The South Carolina Election.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 17.—Major Hamilton of the First Artillery has been ordered to the Department of the South. Major Best of the First Artillery has been ordered to the Department of the Gulf.

It is rumored that a Cuban expedition of five hundred men and 10,000 stand of arms and several pieces of artillery with a ready vessel will leave with regular papers and load at sea. The authorities are here on the alert.

Probabilities—The barometer will continue to fall slowly over the lower lakes and in the middle and eastern States, with southwest to southeast winds; warm and generally cloudy weather and belts of rain. In the south Atlantic States falling barometer, south to east winds and considerable cloudiness on Friday, with possibly rain in the Gulf States; partly cloudy and north to east winds, clearing weather in the northwest and thence to the lower Ohio Valley and Michigan. The upper Ohio river will probably continue rising.

NEW YORK, October 17.—The National Board of Trade convened this morning, and considered a resolution of the Buffalo Board of Trade to the effect that if any proposition be entertained by the National Board looking to a national appropriation in aid of any works within the limits of any particular State, it should be first shown that such State was ready to resign all jurisdiction over such works to the General Government.

The board discussed a proposition to give them control of the Erie Canal to the general government, and tabled the subject.

The committee on gambling in trade presented a report condemning the system of trade which substitutes reckless gambling for fair dealing, and calling on the banks to discourage loans to parties engaged in cornering by exacting such securities as will confine their transactions within their means.

The branch of Richmond presented a minority report condemning cornering in stocks, gold and grain as dishonest and injurious to national character.

Fairbanks, of Chicago, objected to the word dishonest, and doubted whether they could stop it as it is gambling, and gambling will always go on.

Several delegates denounced the pernicious system of trade in cotton carried on in Pearl street, by which three times as much cotton is sold as there is in the country.

The majority report was adopted.

St. Andrew's Church, Staten Island, has burned.

Caleb Cushing, who has just arrived here, expresses himself satisfied with the Geneva results. He says that the counterbalance claims will not reach $2,000,000. The records of the Commission, as printed, will make twenty-five volumes.

The illness of Mrs. Greeley keeps Mr. Greeley at home.

HARRISBURG, PA., October 17.—Simon Cameron celebrated his golden wedding to-day.

A Convention of the colored Baptist of this State assembled here to day. A large delegation of ministers and visitors are in attendance. The Convention adjourned until to-morrow.

PHILADELPHIA, October 17.—The Iron works at Johnstown, recently burned, has resumed work. The employees gave their labor gratuitous to rebuild, while the Pennsylvania Railroad and the large manufacturers in Philadelphia furnished cars, tools and materials to effect this unexampled resuscitation.

At the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union Convention, Mr. Gleanor, of Virginia, offered a preamble and resolution looking to the adoption of some plan for the protection of Catholic emigrants upon their arrival in this country.

Mr. Medicraft, of Philadelphia, moved a vote of thanks to President Grant for the interest he has taken in behalf of emigrants.

The President said that in the midst of a heated political campaign he thought such a motion out of order, and could not entertain it.

COLUMBIA, S. C., October 17.—The Moses State ticket is undoubtedly elected.

Rensher, Elliott and Rainey, colored Republicans, and Hon. B. F. Perry, Democrat, are elected to Congress.

The bolters got a good vote.

The Democrats have elected several Representatives to the Legislature.

BRUSSELLS BELGIUM, October 17.—A man who participated in the Communist revolt in Paris, has surrendered to the police and made a declaration that he was an accomplice of Troppman, who murdered an entire family near Paris. Examination showed the man to be of sound mind.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 17.—The rumor regarding Williams and Bristow is all fuddle. Williams will stick, and Colonel Bristow will resign his office of Solicitor-General.

NEW YORK, October 17.—A dispatch from Wilkesbarre, Penn., says that Internal Revenue Collector Hoyt; L. Shoemaker, candidate for Congress; ex-Mayor Morina, of Scranton; and Internal Revenue Assessor Gaines, of Pittston, have been arrested on the charge of bribing voters at the recent election.

Messrs. Scribner gave a pleasant banquet this evening to Mr. Froude. Among those present were Rev. Drs. Bellows, Potter, Beecher, Chapin and Schenck; H. W. Edmonson, General W. Cuttis, Wm. Cullen Bryant, Prof. Woolsey, of Yale; Prof. Geiot, of Princeton, Parke Goodwin, Geo. W. Childs, and Robert Lowe, who made short speeches. Mr. Curtis presided. Mr. Froude, in his remarks explained the object of his visit to be to contribute to the formation of public opinion in this country regarding the relations between England and Ireland.

Judge Ingraham has decided that a person's watch comes under the title of necessary articles, and cannot be taken by creditors.

The Tribune's Washington special says a letter has been received from Voorhees, dated Terre Haute, October 14, conceding his defeat in spathy, and says: "It was simply the easiest home vote in my party that beat me, and was he cause everywhere. Nobody thought there was a possibility of my defeat, and over-confidence led hundreds to stay away from the polls. I am glad to be able to resume the law practice." He closes by saying: "Mr. Greeley has personally raised himself in this canvass a thousand fold in my estimation."

LANCASTER, PENN., October 17.—Captain McMelon, a member of the Select Council, and member of the Republican County Committee, also John Wittinger, a prominent broker, have been arrested and held in $1,500 bail to answer a charge of issuing fraudulent natural zation papers. McMelon made a strong effort to have the charge against him withdrawn, but Mayor Pyfer declined, and states that justice must be meted out. The public are considerably excited on the subject.

MADRID, SPAIN, October 17.—The end of the Ferrol revolt is officially announced.

Telegraphic Markets.

NEW YORK, October 18.—Cotton firm; sales 4,856 bales; middling uplands 19½; Orleans 20.

A NUMBER of local notices crowded out.

THE FOURTH WARD.—The 4th ward Democrats hold the polls open on the 30th from 10 o'clock A. M. to 6 o'clock P. M., instead of 7 P. M. as published.

JUDGES TO-DAY.—Col. J. H. Traylor, of Troup, Col. D Pike Hill, Major Hockenhull, Major S. R Hoyle, and Col. T. T. Smith are the Judges to-day of all trotting and running matches.

PERSONAL.—Capt. J. L. Mosely correspondent of the Telegraph and Messenger, of Macon, Ga., paid us a visit yesterday. He is here in the interest of that sterling journal.

THE admission to the ball at the H. I. Kimball House to-night will be $3. Tickets for sale at the office of the Kimball House or at the door.

W. M. NICHOLS, Proprietor.

THE Democratic Executive Committee of of DeKalb county will meet in Decatur on Saturday the 26th inst., for the purpose of arranging for nominating a full ticket for county officers.

NICK.—Several beautiful little "rose bud" fairies came into our office yesterday and presented us with a waiter loaded with delicious fruit.

Don't forget to attend their Fair at the First Baptist Church.

THE BELL TREBLE PIANOS.—Mr. L. E. Konisowski, of the St. Louis Piano Manufacturing Company, is in the city. He seems to be ever in tune and on the right key. He is "upright" and "on the square." May his sales treble every year.

MARK W. JOHNSON.—Mark W. Johnson has his Agricultural Depot on Marietta street in De Give's Opera House Block. He is a live merchant, thoroughly understanding the wants of the agricultural world, and is therefore fully appreciated by them. He keeps abreast of the times in everything. Call and see him.

A HANDSOME AND VALUABLE CATALOGUE. Mark W. Johnson has issued a catalogue of the agricultural implements, machinery, mill furnishing goods, garden, field and flower seeds, chemicals, and fire stock for sale by him. It is a work of 128 pages, profusely illustrated, and giving the price of each article. He has expended much time, labor and expense in getting it up. It contains a mass of practical and valuable information to farmers, and is a work of decided utility. Agricultural societies should supply themselves with a number of copies for the use of members. Send to Mark W. Johnson for them.

MEETING OF THE KNIGHTS.—The Knights met at the office of Hill & Candler last night at 7½ o'clock.

M. W. Kries was called to the chair. Mr. J C. Allen was requested to act as secretary.

On motion of Mr. Styles Mr. Thomas Tumlin and Captain W. T. Newman were selected as judges on the first head.

C T Shelton and D Jones, on second head

General W S Walker and Colonel Spencer, on second ring.

W Patterson and Wm Wilson, on third head.

Messrs Ir Lawshe and W P McClatchey, time keepers.

By resolution, the knights were allowed till nine o'clock this morning to give their names to the Secretary of the Tournament Club, and the knights were requested to meet promptly at ten o'clock, at the Kimball House, mounted.

On motion of Capt. Henry Styles, the thanks of the Club was returned to Col. T W J Hill for the use of his office.

On motion of Col. Tumlin, the meeting adjourned

J. C. ALLEN, Secretary.

A BRACE OF JOKES.—There is a young man in this city, whom for short, we will call Smith, as it is an uncommon name. He was acquainted with a young lady noted for her amiability and personal attractions, and met her at the Episcopal Fair the other night for the first time in several months. In the meantime she had married a worthy merchant, but of this Smith was in blissful ignorance. As soon as the the young bride and her husband came in, Smith stepped up to the husband and remarked: "I will relieve you, Mr. ——." Mr — , remarked, "all right," and turning his wife over to Smith remarked to her: "I will be ready to go when you are." Smith said to the young lady that Mr. ——, was pretty cool to talk that way to her. With a bland smile, she remarked that she didn't think so, as they were married. Smith couldn't be fooled that way, and insisted that it couldn't be, but gave in when a lady friend, who came up, informed him how badly he was sold. Smith left on the next West Point train.

There is a waggish gentleman in this city who is frequently mistaken for the proprietor of a religious newspaper in this city. The other day a countryman grasped him by the hand exclaiming, "how do you do, brother ——," when the wag said hurriedly, "d——n it, don't squeeze my hand so hard." The countryman was bewildered. He didn't like the tune, and said that he was mistaken, judging from the language. Some fifteen or twenty minutes afterwards, he came across the same countryman again, who came up to him laughing, saying: "I've been hunting for you two hours. I met a man a while ago that I mistook for you, but his language was a sure index that it wasn't you." With this he gave the wag's hand a thundering, honest grip, and the wag with well simulated expression of pain exclaimed, "d——n it, turn my hand loose." This completely upset the countryman. With dilated eyes he exclaimed: "Is it possible that you are the same man I met before?" Upon being assured of the fact he exclaimed, "Mister, can't you tell me where I will find brother ——."

"SO MUCH INSURANCE FOR SO MUCH MONEY."—This is the motto of the Republic Life Insurance Company. The foundation idea of the company was to organize a company strong in capital and character to secure at once confidence and patronage and prevent, in some measure, the annual drain from the West and South of millions of dollars for life insurance and keep them for investment at home.

Atlanta has no more imposing building or more creditable addition to her architecture than the Republic Block, opposite the Kimball House. It covers the entire front of the block, including nine lots. The wings and central tenement are ornamentally raised. The whole is uniform in its ornamentation. The central part has massive terra cotta figures. All of the ornamentation is the work of those excellent artists, Pellegrini and Georgi.

The building is principally a wholesale boardquarters. In the right-hand tenement M. C. & J. F. Kiser have three floors, with their million of yearly business. This enterprising firm is a favorite patron of THE CONSTITUTION. They are among our most public spirited and successful merchants.

Next to them Jordan, Howard & Haralson have a tobacco store. Next the firm of Markham & Andrews wholesale boots and shoes. This is another large firm.

The central tenement will be occupied by the Republic Insurance Company.

The wholesale firm of Crane, Bedgston & Co., formerly of Charleston, do business in the next. The corner is held by Tommey, Stewart & Beck, who cover two floors with their large stock of hardware. O'Connor & Robinson flourish above them.

On the corner, on the second floor, as the handsome sign indicates, George Sharp, Jr., has his beautiful jewelry rooms, constituting, perhaps, the most ornamental and attractive part of the entire building. With the frescoed walls and the glittering jewelry and his polite ways, Mr Sharp has made an alluring business resort, and is building a fine trade in this line.

Altogether, this building is a fine companion to the Kimball House. It has congregated together a fine lot of merchants, and should be a matter of pride to all Atlanta citizens.

6th STATE FAIR.

Between 15,000 and 18,000 Persons on the Grounds.

Cobb County Takes the $500.

O'Hara Walks Six Miles in Less Than One Hour.

Trotting and Running Matches.

Fair Incidents.

Yesterday beyond doubt was a big day for the Fair. The trains went out literally packed every time, and at 2 P. M. it was estimated that between were on the grounds.

15,000 AND 18,000 PERSONS

PATRONAGE FROM COBB COUNTY.

The Polytechnic Institute at Marietta makes a gratifying exhibit of the proficiency of their pupils in drawing, of fruits, animals, buildings, landscapes, wood graining, and scenes. Among them we note several fine sketches by Miss Annie E. Foster. The residence of W. F. Gent, drawn from nature by Harris M. King, is highly creditable. Professor W. G. Atkinson exhibits a number of "Studies of trees and foliage." His Isometric Birdseye view of the new coal fields of Georgia looking southward from Lookout Mountain attracts attention and elicits praise.

Among others, we note a mountain scene by Mrs. Gregory Snipe, English and American, and stalk of Sea Island cotton by Mrs. A S. Frasier; and something of a "Flirt" by M. L. McIntosh.

OTHER ARTICLES.

Mrs Selina Stenberg, of, Cobb, exhibits eleven pieces of worsted embroidery, and a magnificent cake.

FINE COTTON.

Judge J W Knott, of Macon, exhibits several bales of Peeler cotton, almost as fine as silk. This cotton took the $250 premium at St. Louis.

WORK OF ART.

We noted a ladies fan made from a solid piece of white pine, handle and all. It was cut with a common pen knife, by a Confederate prisoner in Fort Delaware during the war.

A JOVIAL WIDOWER.

Cobb county furnishes the most jovial and live widower in the State in the person of J N. Russell. He has contributed greatly to the success of Cobb in the present Fair and we trust that he will be successful with the Fair of Atlanta. He is a man of decided vim and a successful man in everything he undertakes. The topographical map of his house and farm was drawn with the pen by a Cobb county man. En passant, we would remark that the ladies speak in high terms of Mr. Russell's gallantry and courtesy, and we will not be surprised to see him soon a victim to the prevailing matrimonial epidemic.

THE P. G. IN O.

It is suggested that as every county has its P. G. in G. that a premium be offered for the prettiest Girl in Georgia by the State Fair Executive Committee. But then Gorman will want to be the umpire!

PAIRS THIS SEASON.

Throughout the United States this fall fairs have not been as largely attended as in former years, owing to the great monetary stringency.

The display of

CATTLE, SWINE AND SHEEP

has never been excelled in quality at any Fair in this State.

Especially worthy of mention is

R. PETERS' STOCK.

Mr Peters did his duty nobly in adding to the attractions of the Fair. He has done good work in the improvement of cattle, sheep and swine.

But the grand feature was the DISPLAY MADE BY COBB.

A large wagon, drawn by four horses, contained the Marietta Silver Cornet Band, which discoursed silver toned music, while the procession of horses and mules were brought in front of the grand stand. There were seventeen horses and two mules in the procession.

Captain C W Howard delivered the award of $500 to Cobb county, and in doing so, made the following remarks:

CAPTAIN HOWARD'S SPEECH.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: It is my honored privilege to-day to award the premium to the county exhibiting the largest amount of meritorious productions. The committee appointed awarded the premium of $500 in gold to Cobb county. Before handing the premium to the officers of the society, I will indulge in a few remarks. I have known and been familiar with Cobb county since 1840, three months after the Indians left the Cherokee country. There was for a long time a contest between Cass and Cobb counties. Cass had the richest lands. Cobb boasted the purest air and coldest water. Judge Under wood very wittily said that there was something else required beside air and water. When Marietta was laid out, and she commenced building paling fences, it was predicted that Marietta would be the best place for sheep in fly time in the whole country. Notwithstanding the flings at the poverty of her soil, Cobb went forward and became prosperous beyond her neighbors. When the war came, that marauder Sherman, who fought with the torch, and not the sword, and who deserves the execration of every Southern man, and whose name will be infamous in history, burned her houses and fences and live stock; she was made a wilderness. Notwithstanding the scars of war are still visible, she is here to-day with a display of which any of the most prosperous counties in the Union might justly feel proud of. The object of the premium is to stimulate the diversity of productions. [Here the effort to speak in the open air becoming too exhausting, the speaker had to bring his remarks to a close.] Handing the premium to M. L. Ruff, President of the Cobb County Society, he remarked: Allow me to present to you this handsome purse in recognition of the value and triumphant display Cobb county has made to-day.

Here three cheers were given with a vim, for Cobb county.

Gen W Phillips being called for, responded in a few appropriate remarks. He said that some complained that from one fault or another, Bartow and Gwinnett, and DeKalb and Bibb were not competitors. The Executive Committee had agreed to give $1,000 to the county exhibiting the largest and best collection at Macon next October, $500 to the second, $300 to the third, and $200 to the fourth best. Let these counties meet Cobb there and take the premium, if they can. Cobb was determined to have it and carry it away even from Bibb, even though it was at her own home and she had such a good and strong Hold! Colonel Alston had said that it was the fault of the Secretary of the DeKalb county Society that she was not here to-day. Let her meet Cobb next October.

Colonel R A Alston jocularly said that the Secretary stated that he was in favor of Cobb county getting the premium to encourage her, as she was such a poor county.

The utmost good feeling prevailed, and every one was gratified at the award. Cobb county deserved the premium.

BEATING THE ROAD STEAMER.

The next feature was the walking feat of O'Hara. O'Hara is an athletic, handsome man, six feet 1¼ inches high, 28 years old, weighs 165 pounds, Rud has made his mile in six minutes and thirty seconds. For $1,000 he will guarantee to walk seven miles an hour. He goes from here to Augusta and Columbus.

O'Hara walked around the track twelve times making the six miles in 54 minutes and 65 seconds: First mile, 8:16; second mile, 8:65; third mile, 8:40; fourth mile, 10; fifth mile, 9.15; sixth mile, 9:30; according to the time given. Some who had watches asserted that it was three seconds under fifty-five minutes.

But we pass on from walking to the

TROTTING MATCH.

There were two entries for the trotting match, best two in three, mile heats.

Hickory Jack, is by Ethan Allen out of a Litchfield mare. He is 18 years old.

Atalanta is a blind mare, 11 years old, by Ethan Allen out of Lady Maynard. Ethan Allen was one of the fastest pole horses in the country, and trotted with a running mate against Dexter making his mile in 2:15.

Hickory Jack was entered by A. C. Haggie, and Atlanta by Chambers.

Previous to the trot both went round the track together. Atalanta trotted out of her harness.

FIRST HEAT.

Hickory Jack 2:41.
Atalanta 2:55.

SECOND HEAT.

Hickory Jack 2:11½.
Atalanta 2:2.

Hickory Jack having won two straight heats the third heat was not run.

The trotting was succeeded by the

RUNNING MATCH.

For this there were but two entries.

"Quartette, 3 years old, by A. M. Linn.

"Harvey" by J. D. Collins.

"Quartette" made the first mile in 1:51½. Considering her age, the weight of her rider, and the number of races run by her in the past week or so, she is the most promising horse in the United States. The time made by her on Wednesday of 1:49 has never been beat by a two year old.

When it became Harvey's time to enter, he bolted off in an independent race and jumping the fence fell to the ground. His rider sprained his wrist. Harvey was not injured, but did not run.

"Quartette" galloped round the course the second time and took the purse.

ELYSIAN COLOGNE.

This is an exquisite and permanent cologne distilled from the natural flowers whose refreshing sweetness is appreciated by all who visit the stand of J S Pemberton & Co., in Floral Hall.

A MECHANICAL GENIUS

Mr J W Bass exhibits a chest made by himself, containing 250 tools made by himself during his leisure hours, although he has never served an apprenticeship. The chest contains full sets of machinists, carpenter's, and blacksmith's tools, turning lathe for wood and iron, complete set of carving tools, etc. Mr. Bass has located permanently in Atlanta.

CRYSTAL SYRUPS.

J W Seymour, exhibits for Fairbanks & Gilman, Sugar Refiners of New Orleans, samples of crystal syrups, that for purity and excellence are unsurpassed. The syrups are of a blonde color, and oh! so sweet.

DEKALB AHEAD.

B. F. Ward, John Jones and T. G Holt, Jr., were the committee to examine the cotton stalks of Holmes' Early Prolific Cotton competing for the premiums offered by Mr. Holmes

The first premium of $100 was awarded to Hon John C. Hagedale, of DeKalb county.

The second premium of $30 was awarded to R. T. Stokes.

The third premium of $10 was awarded to James W. Warren, of DeKalb county.

BELL TREBLE PIANO.

Guilford, Wood & Co., agents, exhibit an upright Bell Treble Piano. The piano attracted much attention and excited admiration.

HONEY.

Mrs. S. E. Mills, of this city, exhibited some 500 pounds of the clearest and purest honey and comb we have ever seen. She has fifty-five colonies and has met with marked success in bee culture.

GEN. COLQUITT.

We are pleased to announce that Gen. Colquitt was much better yesterday.

SHEEP RAISING.

Captain C W Howard spoke last night on sheep culture. He advocated the breeding of sheep and growing of wool, contending that the wool crop of Georgia could be made equal to the cotton crop, with out detriment to the latter. He made a fine argumentative speech.

BOLD OPERATIONS.

The pickpockets reaped a rich harvest yesterday. We heard of quite a number of instances where parties had been robbed. One man lost $1,000.

THE LAST TRAIN

The last train was fearfully crowded. The road steamer made faster time than that train under its heavy load.

MUSICAL TRIAL.

The musical trial takes place in the Department of Fine Arts at 1 o'clock to-day. The competing institutions, pupils under private tutors, and children unrepresented by teachers are requested to report their names to Col. Capers by 12 M. to-day.

PICK POCKETS CAPTURED.

Capt. Johnson and Lieut Holland succeeded last night in capturing three of the cutes of the pickpocket tribe, that are so numerous in our city at this time. They deserve a handsome premium from the Agricultural Association, as well as the thanks of the citizens of Atlanta. The thieves gave their names respectively, as Curtis, Mayer and Rowland.

THE EPISCOPAL BAZAAR.

More Brilliant than Ever.

Grand Success.

The Greatest Discovery of the Age.

The attraction of the Bazar has at length been discovered. The crowds that gather there nightly are accounted for.

Alchemists have labored, conjurers toiled, witches held midnight council in order to alleviate the sufferings of the victims of Cupid, but all their medicaments are worthless when compared with the wonderful cure for love, now sold for the first time in the history of Atlanta at the Bazar.

Come to the Rink to-night and be cured.

Medicine distributed at 8½ P. M. Price 25 cents per package.

GRAND ANNOUNCEMENT.—The ladies of St. Philips Episcopal Bazar have decided to make no charge for admission for Everybody invited. Come one, come all.

As we walked around the city yesterday perusing we gave a stretch at Anderson & Roberts's great mammoth and three-sheet bill boards, which conspicuous exactly when the merchants and showmen require for a general presentation of business. Call on them at No. 28 Marietta street, where all orders may be left.

AND NOW GEORGIA

The Imperial Plot for Her Crucifiction Again to Help Grant's Election.

From the Washington Patriot.]

The 60,000 Democratic majority in Georgia is to be rectified against the Presidential election. It is quite allowable, in a Democratic city like Philadelphia, to pile up a Radical majority of 20,000, by the instrumentality of hired "repeaters" and "colonized" negroes. But if is not permissible, in a State that has always been Democratic, as Georgia has, and that, in spite of bayonets and frauds, of Cameron's "purchases" and Morton's guile, and Bullock's thieving combinations—in spite of Congressional endeavors and in separate reconstructions, has always given large Democratic majorities—it is not permissible for the people of Georgia, irrespective of color, to express their tremendous reprobation of carpet-baggery at the polls. Georgia has never been forgiven, has always been hated, has always been watched, because she gave a majority of 44,908 against Grant. This has been Geor ia's unpardonable sin, and in repeating it she has brought upon her head the vengeance of the powers that launched the Quadedrotit upon the Carolinas.

Already the mutterings of the Imperial storm are beginning to be heard. Already the papers in the lure and interest of the Administration teem with "garbled extracts," the bilge water of imaginary correspondence, the thousand inventions of hungry Bohemians and lying office-seekers and office-holders, about "outrages" in Georgia. Already in every deputy marshal's office in that state, ready-made testimony is being gathered together, and patched, amended, trimmed, and pruned for the eagerly hungry Radical market of the North. Already, at every meeting of the "Loyal Leaguers" there, evidence of the terrible Ku-Klux is being manufactured, old scars on rogu negroes backs brushed up into brightness, old crimes revamped, old nightmares revived, and now soon we shall hear from all the counties of Georgia of how the Confederate raiders have been riding by night, and how they have been scourging, and shooting, and burning, and banishing in the most miscellaneous and wholesale fashion Every little piddling riot and local disorder that has taken place in Georgia since the Confederacy is laid down in scare will be recited over again, until the horrified North, with unanimous appeal, constrains the President to do to Georgia what he did to South Carolina and North Carolina, in time to save the vote at the November election. Akerman will summon his quondam friend and fit associate, Colonel Whiteley, "Chief Detective of the Government," to his aid, and conspiracies will burst forth miraculously, like cotton from the pod. Political almanac-makers will have no trouble now to earn prophetic laureis. All they will have to do will be to write down for the whole remaining month and the first week in November—"Expect much Ku-klux in Georgia about this time."

PAULINE LUCCA.

A Broad and Butter Estimate of the All-Conquering Artista.

Correspondence of the St. Louis Republican.]

NEW YORK, October 9, 1872.

LUCCA.

I have deferred writing of Lucca until I had seen or heard her in something better than "L'Africaine." The opera of "Faust" has been done to death here. Kellogg made us familiar with its name, by numberless representations. Several other artist gave us their ideas "Margherite," and Nilsson made her best success in it. Ary Scheffer's picture and the whole cluster of prima donnas have made for us a certain identity of the blond type that Lucca did not preserve.

But we have had Fechter in a light wig doing Hamlet, and now we have taken Lucca in dark hair as the fair maid Marguerite. The truth—I tell of my own setiments and everybody of any independence of feeling and expression with whom I have swapped opinions—is, Lucca is, like Nilsson, a disappointment. She is little and she is fat, and she is not young, (she has big, half-grown children), but she puts on those nippy, rose-bud airs, and jumps and teeters about, and is so blessed playful, the sweet young thing, that the near sighted crickets take off their spectacles fest in her gambols she breaks 'em during their interviews. They hear the juvenile prattle and laughter, they taste lots of champagne and smell savory messes of pottage, dear to the reporforial palate; but they don't see a living thing clearly. In consequence, with the taste and odors still like a glammour upon 'em, they rush into ink and draw upon their excited imaginations and the pictures in the shop-windows for portraits of the charmer.

The man who reads these pictures and sees those pictures and going to the opera beholds a nice, tidy little woman, who sings very prettily, and is as fat in stage business, is naturally disappointed.

I'm getting used to this sort of thing, and it's getting difficult to rouse my curiosity and anticipation. I stood out the Lucca inoculation some time before I took the complaint. But column after column, paragraph after paragraph, constantly appearing, quotations from foreign journals and home-baked and brewed accounts, finally brought me to my milk. For the seventy fifth time I got anxious to see a new divinity, and before the curtain went up felt uneasy, and on the divinity's entree applauded with that indescribable feeling of excitement that seems as if some one had slid a piece of ice down your backbone.

She opens her mouth, a hush falls, and you listen for those ravishing strains that have got the better of so many astute critics. Flop—there you go—that's all she can do—that's the strength and sweetness, that's the volume, that's the biggest note in her, with which she tops off, and she isn't so good a singer as Parepa, and her execution isn't as good as Kellogg's, and that's all I've got to say concerning Lucca, who was to beat Nilsson, and Nilsson, when she was a goddess, beat the world.

ONE DOSE OF INFIRMITINE.—Physical infirmities are the lot of all. Millions are always sick. No man, woman or child is uniformly in perfect health. Much, however, of the sickness and suffering which render life a burden to so many of our fellow beings is due to carelessness and neglect. A mighty antidote to the leading causes of disease has been provided. It is as harmless as it is efficient. No poisonous drug enters into its composition. It is an undefiled stimulant, tonic and aperient, of which every ingredient is vegetable. This unexceptionable preventive and restorative medicine is not "a new thing under the sun." Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will soon have been before the world a quarter of a century, and it is not too much to aver that thousands, aye, tens of thousands, are now using it who would have been in their graves years ago had they not been strengthened and sustained by this wholesome stimulant. The rapidity with which minor ailments often become, when neglected, obstinate diseases, is well known. This tonic is famous for the immediate check which it gives to these breeders of deadly disorders. The sensation of languor, the sick headache, the nervousness, the indisposition to exertion, the nausea, the confusion of brain, the physical debility, which are intended to premonish us of the approach of serious danger, are invariably removed by a few doses of the Bitters. The fame of the preparation as a genuine specific for dyspepsia, bilious complaints, malarious fevers, rheumatism and chronic debility, is as wide as the world; and in these days of infamous charlatanism, when fierce cathartics, that rob the invalid of the last remnants of his strength are advertised as invigorants (?), it is indeed a blessing to mankind that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are everywhere procurable, and everywhere popular. oct15-deod1w&w1t.

THE world does not contain a medicinal preparation which has obtained a more widespread and deserved popularity than the Mexican Mustang Liniment. Since its introduction to public notice more than twenty years ago, it has been constantly used for every kind of disease or injury to man or beast which can be affected by a local application, and so far as its proprietors are aware, it has not failed in a single instance. After so long and successful a term of probation, who will have the hardihood to deny its pre eminent claims to popular esteem oct15-deod1w&w1t.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of nasal passages, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, acrid, thick and tenacious mucus, purulent, muco-purulent, bloody, putrid, offensive, etc. In others a dryness, dry, watery, weak or inflamed eyes, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear throat, ulcerations, scabs, from ulcers, constant desire to clear nose and throat, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, tickling cough, idiocy and insanity.

All the above symptoms are common to the disease in some of its stages or complications, yet thousands of cases annually terminate in consumption, and end in the grave without ever manifesting one-third of the above symptoms.

No disease is more common or less understood by physicians. The Proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will pay $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure. Sold by druggists. oct15-deod1w&w1t.

DR. TUTT'S Liver Pills act as kindly on the most delicate female as upon the most vigorous system. Try them once.

BLESSINGS brighten as they take their flight. The chief of blessings is good health, without which nothing is worth the having; it is always appreciated at its true value after it is lost, but too often not before. Live properly, and correct ailments before they become seated. For diseases of the liver, kidneys, skin, stomach, and all arising from impure or feeble blood, DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are a sure and speedy remedy. It has never yet failed in a single instance. sep18—d&w4w

BACHELORS' HAIR DYE.—This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. It is not a physic which may give temporary relief to the sufferer for the first few doses, but which, from continued use brings Pleas and kindred diseases to aid in weakening the human frame, nor is it a diseased liquor, which, under the popular name of "Bitters" is so extensively palmed off on the public as sovereign remedies but it is a most powerful Tonic and alterative, pronounced so by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris, and has been long used by the regular physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

retains all the medical virtues peculiar to the plan and must be taken as a permanent curative agent.

Is there want of action in your Liver and Spleen? Unless relieved at once the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, Boiches, Felons, Pumples, Canker, Pimples, etc.

Take JURUBEBA to cleanse, purify and restore the vitiated blood to healthy action.

Have you a Dyspeptic Stomach! Unless digestion is promptly aided the system is debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the blood, dropical tendency, general weakness or lassitude.

Take it to assist Digestion without reaction, it will impart youthful vigor to the weary sufferer.

Have you a weakness of the Intestines? You are in danger of Chronic Diarrhoea or the dreadful inflammation of the Bowels.

Take it to allay irritation and ward off tendency to inflammations.

Have you weakness of the Uterine or Urinary Organs? You must procure instant relief or you are liable to suffering worse than death.

Take it to strengthen organic weakness or life becomes a burden.

Finally it should be frequently taken to keep the system in perfect health or you are otherwise in great danger of malarial, miasmatic or contagious diseases.
